

Why Is Recycling Important ?

California cities and counties are required by law to cut the amount of waste going to landfills because land filling waste is just that, wasteful. Most of the "waste" we create today, such as cardboard, glass, paper of all kinds, plastics, and yard clippings, is not waste at all, but valuable resources that can be efficiently used to make new products. Production of recycled paper uses 80% less water and 65% less energy, and produces 95% less air pollution than virgin paper production¹.

Why bury valuable resources in our beautiful high desert when they can be used to make new products?

Recycling saves energy, reduces air and water pollution, preserves habitat for wildlife, and creates new jobs.

Recycling makes sense for us, our environment and our future generations. It's good for everyone!

Mail Back Recycling Programs

A mail-back program offers collection and recycling/disposal of products by sending them via mail. There may be fees associated with mail-in program recycling, and it is best that you call or visit the website before sending in products. They may have special packaging requirements or instructions for you to follow
